WHAT EDUCATORS SAY

"The magazine English teachers have been waiting for since the first English class was organized."—Montana Education.

"It is a jewel among classroom materials. . . . If I were wealthy and could be a philanthropist, I believe there would not be a wiser investment in better education for young Americans than a copy for everybody in the secondary schools. Each issue increases my really passionate enthusiasm."—E. W. S., Armstrong Technical H. S., Washington, D. C.

"A knockout. . . . My pupils are enthusiastic."—E. S. S., East H. S., Rochester, New York.

Literary Cavalcade deserves the highest praise."—Sister M. G., Trinity H. S., River Forest, Ill.

"One of my students left her copy of Literary Cavalcade lying on the living room table at home. The father later picked it up. He asked, 'How long have we been receiving this magazine?'"

"The daughter explained where she had received it.

"The father replied, 'Perhaps I have juvenile taste, but that magazine is the best magazine I have read recently. I learned more from it than from the adult magazines coming to the house.'"—R. W., McKinley H. S., Washington, D. C.
